COMMUNISM HITS CHILE

CAPITULATES WITH MUTINOUS SEAMEN WHO SEIZED FLEET

Civilians Ready To Arm Against Red
Movement

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 4.—With the threat of a Communist regime overhanging the country, the Chilean government capitulated today to mutinous seamen who seized the fleet in the port of Coquimbo and reached an agreement involving cancellation of the naval pay cuts announced recently as an economic measure.

Under the terms of the agreement, negotiated by Admiral Von Schroeder aboard the flagship of the mutinous fleet, the sailors and non-commissioned officers involved in the uprising will not be punished or subjected to reprisals, but will immediately submit to naval discipline.

The Coquimbo accord, however, far from ended the difficulties of the government. News reaching Buenos Aires via telephone from Santiago told of a concerted campaign by Communists, allegedly in the pay of Moscow, to overthrow the existing regime and establish a Bolshevik government in its stead.

In an effort to forestall the threat of a wholesale Communist uprising, 15,000 civilians have been ordered to take up arms, and are being trained in the use of rifles and machine guns.

Numerous bloody clashes have already occurred, and all available troops and reserves are patrolling the streets of Santiago, Valparaiso and other large cities of the republic.

Indicative of the danger threatening foreign residents, the government counseled the American Society in Santiago to forego its regular weekly dinner, for fear the function might attract attention of the mutinous element and lead to "unfortunate incidents."

The coast defense crews of four fortresses at Talcahuano, the principal naval port of Chile, have joined the mutineers. The government rushed a detachment of troops to the scene.

The coastal artillery and the marines also have joined the uprising, while the entire army was reported wavering in loyalty to the incumbent regime.

While definite information was not obtainable concerning the number of casualties up to 9 a. m. today, it was reported several were killed and a number wounded in a series of clashes between troops and Communists in Santiago and Valparaiso during the night. The foreign "white guard" also was reported to have been called into action to drive off a mob of demonstrators seeking to attack the foreign settlement.

MURDER FARM NOW "AMUSEMENT PARK"

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 4.—The "murder farm" of Harry Powers, confessed butcher of two widows and three children, today was opened as "an amusement park" by the lessee of the property from Mrs. "Lulu" Powers, wife of the prisoner.

Adults were charged twenty-five cents and children fifteen cents admission to view the "slaughterhouse" garage in the sub-cellar in which the victims were slain and their bodies buried in a nearby trench.

Refreshment stands mushroomed the vicinity. Hawkers barked their wares.

A representative of the lessee of the site complained to authorities that persons were "crashing the gate" by creeping through the barbed wire fence recently erected.

TWELVE CARD PARTY GUESTS ARE ROBBED

CLEVELAND, Sept. 4.—Lining up their victims against the wall, five gunmen today robbed a neighborhood card party in which twelve men and women participated, and escaped with a total sum of $500, according to police.

Three of the robbers entered the dwelling of Mrs. Mary Malak, on the east side, and staged the hold-up while their two companions waited at the wheel of a machine outside.

Gaining entrance by ringing the front door bell, the trio, all armed, ordered the guests to throw up their hands and proceeded to "frisk" each person, police were told.

STREET RIOTS FOLLOW STRIKE IN BARCELONA

QUEEN MARIE ILL

Dowager Queen Marie of Rumania is suffering from a grave illness which will necessitate an operation, as soon as her health permits. Reports from Budapest say that if the operation fails the queen will live only a year.

THIS COUNTRY LAGS IN ARMY AVIATION BRITISHER CLAIMS

Finds Nation Excels In Commercial End Of Flying

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 4.—Commercially, this country is far ahead of the rest of the world in aviation, but from a military standpoint, America is not so good.

This was the measured conclusion of England's foremost flier, Flight Commander R. L. R. "Dick" Atcherly, a member of the 1929 winning British Schneider cup race team.

Atcherly carefully added that the United States seemed to have everything necessary to a paramount place in military aviation but the will to excel. He also deplored the failure of American aviation to build a plane for the annual flying of the world speed classic in the air, the Schneider cup races.

He is attending the national air races as part of the international flying group, and had nothing but praise for American aeronautical workmanship and inventive genius.

But he said that ability had not been applied to the development of high speed, efficient military fighting planes as it could be.

"I don't see," he drawled "why your American airplane builders fail to get together and use some of that grand ability they show in making commercial planes, to build an American military plane."

Atcherly pointed out that Europe has made material progress in development of the high powered, water-cooled motor, while this country still sticks to the radial type air cooled power plant. He said the water cooled engine was inevitable, and that the sooner it was developed for military purposes in the United States, the sooner would the United States take its rightful place in the world in military flying.

"This failure to develop a high speed American fighting plane," he added, "gives the rest of the world a false impression. Everyone can't come to your country and see your splendid commercial air lines in operation daily."

SEEK REALTOR WHO JUMPED BOND, FLED

ZANESVILLE, O., Sept. 4.—A search for W. A. Lorimer, prominent real estate broker, was under way today following his disappearance while he was held under bond, charged with perjury and embezzlement.

Lorimer was charged with converting $350 of a client's money to his own use, later declaring to state bank officials that he turned the money over to the State Security Bank, which is now defunct.

MADRID, Sept. 4.—New street riots with numerous casualties, looting and acts of incendiarism were reported today from Barcelona, where business and industrial life has been brought to a standstill by a general strike of 300,000 workers.

Police and troops patrolling darkened streets through the night with their carbines unslung and ready for action, clashed frequently with demonstrators. The most serious outbreak occurred when a gang of incendiaries invaded a church, poured gasoline on chairs and doors and set them afire.

Civil guards who rushed to the scene ejected the incendiaries while their work of destruction was in progress and beat out the flames. Several were reported injured in the battle, while the church was damaged considerably.

Throughout the night, Barcelona was a city of fright and appalling darkness. The strike of public service workers left the city without its electric light supply. Candles and oil lamps furnished the only means of illumination for homes, and it was not until the early hours of the morning that police got an emergency street lighting system into operation.

In a broadcast speech last night, the military governor of Barcelona guaranteed maintenance of public order, threatening harsh punishment for strikers interfering with the public services.

Angel Pestana, chief of the confederation of labor, which called the strike, was placed under arrest but was released upon order of Co. Francisco Macia, president of the Catalanian republic, over the governor's opposition.

Virtually all shops and cafes in the Barcelona area are closed, their windows protected by heavy iron shutters.

START SEARCH FOR NAUTILUS

Vessel Ordered To Rush
To Vicinity

OSLO, Norway, Sept. 4.—Organized relief for the possible rescue of Sir Hubert Wilkins and the members of the crew of his polar submarine Nautilus, whose whereabouts in the Arctic are uncertain, got under way today at the behest of the Norwegian government.

The Norwegian minister of defense ordered the vessel Frithjof Nansen, now at anchor at Harstad, to proceed immediately to the relief of the Nautilus party.

The two famous Arctic explorers and fliers, Rikis-Larsen and Heland Hansen, were to leave Bergen today in two planes on the first leg of a flight to attempt to locate the Nautilus.

Another Norwegian ship, the Velding, is already enroute to the last reported position of the Nautilus.

GANG SHOOTING IN CLEVELAND PROBED

CLEVELAND, Sept. 4.—Shot in what was believed to have been an attempted gang murder, a man identified as Eddie Schwartz, alias James Shelby, was reported in a critical condition at Mt. Sinai Hospital today.

Schwartz, whose body was found in the yard of an East Side home, had been shot in the head, according to police. Neighbors in the vicinity informed authorities that they saw a machine bearing a Michigan license drive away from the scene of the shooting.

Neil Collins, reputed Detroit racketeer, who police said was named by Schwartz as his assailant, was arrested a short time after the shooting. Schwartz, however, refused to identify the suspect when he was taken to the hospital and confronted the wounded man.

Although O'Hara has been in this city for two days conferring with Chief Counsel Law, former state's prosecutor, it was considered.

WOMAN LEAPS FROM VIADUCT TO DEATH

AKRON, O., Sept. 4.—"I love Paul and can't live without him." A note containing those words today offered in explanation of the death of Mrs. Honor C. Frazee, 38, mother of two children, who leaped off the south end of the North Hill "suicide" viaduct here last night.

The woman died a few minutes after being removed to St. Thomas's hospital. The body was identified by her husband, Paul D. Frazee.

The note left by the mother indicated an estrangement from her husband, and stated "I am not strong enough to rear my children alone."

NEW SPEED KING

Lowell Bayles of Springfield, Mass., above, has been scorching the air above Cleveland, O., during the National Air races in an attempt to break Lieut. Alford Williams' record of 266 miles an hour. In an unofficial race against time Bayles registered 286.852 miles an hour over a one-mile course. To be official the record must be made over a three-kilometer course.

COUNSEL CALLED IN POWERS DEFENSE IS MENACED BY CROWD

O'Hara Threatened;
Charge Police Had Beaten Slayer

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 4.—Threatened by a crowd to be ridden out of town "on a rail," Barrett O'Hara, famous Chicago lawyer and criminologist, who was mentioned as possible associate defense counsel for Harry Powers, Bluebeard murderer of five, planned to return to Chicago today.

A heterogeneous mob staged a demonstration against O'Hara as he was leaving the county jail after visiting Powers with the latter's chief counsel, J. Ed. Law.

The demonstration reflected the indomitable sentiment of the community against any attempt to strengthen the chances of Powers to escape the hangman's noose.

As the noted criminal lawyer smiled, the crowd booed and shouted.

"We don't want no outsider comin' down here to keep us from hangin' a yellor dog," shouted one man.

"They say Al Capone sent him here from Chicago," said another man in overall.

Somebody else suggested that the American Friendship Society of Detroit, the matrimonial bureau through whom Powers conducted his mail-order love-making, had hired O'Hara to aid in the defense.

An old war veteran stamped his cane and croaked:

"Let's ride him out of town on a rail."

The cry was taken up.

O'Hara, of the silver hair and tongue, laughed and walked over to the wall.

"My friend," he said, "Let's shake hands. We're liable to understand each other better after we get to know each other."

"No sirree," shouted the old veteran. "I ain't goin' to shake hands with you."

Although O'Hara has been in this city for two days conferring with Chief Counsel Law, former state's prosecutor, it was considered.

CAMPAIGN TO "SAVE THE SURPLUS" GETS STARTED IN COUNTY

Organization Formed To Direct Relief Efforts; Townships Will Carry On Separately Is Decided; Miss Ruth Radford Chairman

Organization of "Save the Surplus" campaign in Greene County was effected Thursday evening with the election of Miss Ruth Radford, county home demonstration agent, as chairman. A meeting in the assembly room of the Court House was attended by approximately seventy-five, representing various townships in the county and organizations in Xenia city.

MOTHER, FIVE CHILDREN ARE ALL DROWNED

Trapped When Auto
Plunges Into River;
Husband Escapes

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 4.—Victims of drowning when the automobile in which they were riding late last night plunged off a road near here into twenty feet of water in the Scioto River, Mrs. Sarah Jane Reichley, 29, and her five children were dead today.

Patrick H. Reichley, 31, husband and father, lineman for the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., escaped injury when he was thrown from the car into the water.

The five children drowned with their mother were: Juanita, 6; Conrad, 9; Robert and Raymond, four-year old twins; and Charles, 2.

The bodies were all recovered early today.

Reichley, delirious with grief, said something went wrong with the steering apparatus.

"I don't know exactly what did happen," Reichley told Coroner Edward E. Smith. "Maybe I looked around and ran off the road or maybe I was driving over a little too far and the wheels skidded. It was dark at the time and I couldn't see the road so well."

"There had been considerable play in the steering wheel of my car lately and something may have gone wrong with it."

The automobile was to be examined today in an effort to determine the cause of the accident.

The tragedy occurred on a narrow dirt road along the east bank of the Scioto River.

"I was driving very slowly. The children were in the back seat making quite a lot of noise and having a good time and my wife and I were talking," Reichley said.

"Suddenly something happened."

Reichley said he was hurled either through the door or the window.

Terrified when he found his car had plunged into the river, Reichley ran to a restaurant of the River Road and asked an employee to call police.

The automobile was brought to the surface by firemen, assisted by a wrecking car crew from the Columbus auto club and several onlookers who were attracted to the scene of the tragedy.

CONNIE BENNETT AGAIN IN HOSPITAL

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Constance Bennett, screen star, was in a hospital here today for the third time in eighteen months. Her friends said she was suffering from adhesions said to have followed an operation for appendicitis.

She was accompanied to the hospital by her brother-in-law, Morton Downey, the singer; her sister, Barbara, and the Marquis de la Falaise, the former husband of Gloria Swanson.

Miss Bennett has been reported engaged to the Marquis.

PROBE ACCIDENT

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 4.—Investigation was started by police today into an automobile collision in which William G. Larus, 37, of Dayton, was seriously injured. Another man and woman were said by police to have ran from the scene after the accident.

The canning project will be carried on separately in each township with the support of a county central committee of which Miss Radford is head. Other members of this general committee are Miss Faye Cavanaugh, secretary; Joseph Spiro, chairman of the committee for locating and collecting jars; Charles W. Adair, chairman of the committee in charge of buying sugar, new jars and other materials; Fred Flynn, chairman of the committee to locate and collect surplus food; Miss Mildred Mason, publicity chairman. This committee will function generally and similar committees will be set up in each township.

By request Miss Lelia Ogle, nutrition specialist of Ohio State University, will come to Xenia Tuesday and stage a demonstration of canning vegetables at Central High School cafeteria, which has been donated by the school board. It will start at 10 a. m. and continue all day. All organizations, churches or any one entering into this work are asked to send representatives to the demonstration.

A community kitchen will not be established but the work will be carried on by separate church or organizations and lodges, but any person not affiliated with such an organization who wishes to help is invited to join with any of the groups in the community. This matter was not definitely decided since it will be up to the judgment of each township as to how it wishes to carry on the work. Each township, however, will be responsible for its own storage space.

When completed distribution of the canned goods will be in charge of the home service committee of the Red Cross in Xenia city and township, the township trustees and township boards of education. Any lodge or organizations wishing to have representatives on the home service committee of the Red Cross are advised to do so.

Miss Adele Koch, of Ohio State University, who has been working in counties in southwestern Ohio, planning setups similar to the one added by Greene County in this canning project, attended the meeting. She told of various ways how the work might be carried out. The Rev. Harvey Crowell, of Bath Twp., told of work along this line being carried out in that township.

Next week is to be designated as "canning week" for it is thought that at that time fruits and vegetables will be most plentiful.

BEGIN DITCH WORK TO ASSIST JOBLESS

CLEVELAND, Sept. 4.—Designed as a move to provide aid for the unemployed, Ohio's emergency program for ditch improvement was underway in Cuyahoga County today.

Ten men, recommended for the job by ward leaders, were the first to obtain work under the new plan. Several hundred persons are expected to be given employment in the ditch work.

State Highway Director O. W. Merrell supervised the start of the ditch project, which was authorized by the state highway department and is being financed by state funds.

WILL SAVE SURPLUS

WILMINGTON, O., Sept. 4.—Formation of a permanent organization to establish thrift kitchens to preserve surplus fruits and vegetables for the aid of needy families in the county during the winter has been effected by Wilmington civic leaders, ministers and representatives of schools and lodges.

OFFICIAL RESIGNS

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 4.—T. P. Draper, vice-president in charge of operations of the Sharon Steel Hoop Co., has resigned, according to an announcement of officials of the company. Draper was connected with the concern since 1919.

NAME DAYTON MAN

CLEVELAND, Sept. 4.—A. H. Kramer, of Dayton, O., has been named general chairman of the state-wide safety contest to be conducted by the Ohio Foundries Association. It was announced here today.

TREASURY BALANCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The treasury balance on Sept. 2, was: $125,255,728.62. Expenditures, $10,683,438.98; custom receipts $1,721,430.78.

JOBLESS ACTORS

Just like thousands of other actors and actresses the son and daughter of Ethel Barrymore, head of Broadway's "royal family," are "at liberty." Ethel Barrymore, top, has withdrawn as a singer with George White's Scandale and her brother, John Drew, has quit the cast of a Broadway play.

AGRICULTURE HEAD AND CONSERVATION COUNCIL BATTLING

Appointment Of New Commissioner Bone
Of Contention

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 4.—New hostilities between the state conservation council and State Director of Agriculture I. S. Guthery were forecast today after the council indicated it will name a new conservation commissioner despite a ruling by Attorney General Gilbert Bettsman apparently giving that power to Guthery.

Although members of the council reported they heard indirectly that Guthery would seek to appoint a man of his own choosing, they said they planned to take advantage of the unqualified appointing power recently given them by Gov. George White.

An appeal to Governor White to help them carry out the authority he granted them will be made if any interference results, members of the council said.

Conservation Commissioner John W. Thompson, Elida Republican, who recently resigned at the council's request, was temporarily replaced at last night's meeting by A. F. Moon, of Conover, chairman of the council.

Moon will act for the commission until Oct. 19, the date that Thompson's resignation becomes effective, without pay. Thompson has already left office and was given a leave of absence with pay until Oct. 19. In the interim Dr. H. C. McClelland of Piqua will act as chairman of the council.

Forestalling objections to the appointment by the council of one of its own members as the new commissioner, Mr. McClelland, who has been mentioned for the place, declared he "will not under any circumstances consider accepting, even if presented the position vacated by Mr. Thompson."

A special meeting to consider the selection of the commissioner will be held late this month, it was announced.

FAIR CONTINUES AS DISPUTE IS ENDED

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 4.—With peace established between State Director of Agriculture I. S. Guthery and State Fair Manager Chas. M. Beer, the 81st Ohio State Fair today resumed its conclusion.

Today was press and exhibitors' day at the fair, and one of the principal events scheduled was a luncheon for newspaper men at the fairgrounds clubhouse.

Judging of livestock was expected to be completed late today and many of the animals will be moved from the grounds tomorrow. All the other exhibits will remain in place Saturday.

Three races postponed due to a wet track Wednesday will be held Saturday, supplying an added attraction in the last day schedule.

SPEED OVER NATION IN FEATURE EVENT OF NATIONAL RACES

Efforts To Shatter
Hawks' Mark Are Aviators' Plan

MUNICIPAL AIRPORT, CLEVELAND, Sept. 4.—Flying almost wing to wing, two of America's fastest air speed demons today were streaking across the nation in the first west-east transcontinental non-stop speed race in history.

The pair of aces, James Goodwin Hall, New York's flying broker, and Art Goebel, winner of the 1927 Dole Derby to Hawaii, with six other noted racers were engaged in the competition for the 2,040-mile Bendix Derby trophy, but were also headed for New York in a non-stop race to better the record of Captain Frank Hawks.

Expected to round the nome pylon here about 1 p. m. in the contest for the $15,000 cash prize and the Bendix Trophy, the two were slated to continue their trip to New York without stopping in their attempt to crack Hawks' record of twelve hours and twenty-five minutes.

Of the remaining six Bendix dash entrants, two others expected to continue on to New York in their time to Cleveland warranted an attempt at Hawks' record. They were Jimmy Doolittle, racing a laid streamliner monoplane especially designed and built for the national air races, and Heeler Evers.

Arrival of the transcontinental speed derbyists was to be the highlight of the Canadian day program at the air races today. Four closed course speed dashes, two of them for women pilots, and a realistic "dog fight" by five members of the famous Siskin unit of the Canadian Royal Air Force, were events on the program to be staged at the airport.

Lowell Bayles, Springfield, Mass., speedster who will try to lower the world and American speed records for land planes tomorrow, set a new national air races record for competitive dash events yesterday by flashing over a 50-mile course at an average speed of 206.001 miles per hour. The event was a free-for-all open to planes of any piston displacement and was the sensation of Navy day.

WICHITA, Kas., Sept. 4.—Harold Johnson of Chicago, flying a Lockheed plane, was the first of the Los Angeles to Cleveland air racers to reach Wichita today. Johnson set his plane down here at 9:18 a. m. Central Standard time.

Johnson was twenty-four minutes ahead of Frank Hawks' record time of six hours and twelve minutes from Los Angeles to Wichita.

UNITED AIRPORT, Los Angeles, Sept. 4.—Delayed three days by bad weather, eight pilots took off at short intervals from United Airport this morning on the dash to Cleveland, Ohio.

Lou Reichers, Arlington, N. M., left first at 4:20 Eastern Standard Time and said he intended to be in Cleveland at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Walter J. Hunter, Chicago, Capt. Ira Eaker, Washington, D. C., Harold Johnson, Chicago, Beeler Blevins, Atlanta, Ga., Major James H. Doolittle, New York; James Hall, New York; and Art Goebel, Los Angeles, left in that order.

All the pilots except Hunter indicated they would fly to New York in an effort to break Frank Hawks' west to east record of twelve hours, twenty-five minutes.

Narrow escapes of two of the pilots from crashing at the take off thrilled the crowd of 5,000 spectators gathered at the airport in darkness at the airport.

Goebel and Johnson were the two who almost met with disaster.

GRAF ZEPPELIN ON RETURN TRIP NOW

PERNAMBUCO, (Recife), Brazil, Sept. 4.—Carrying sixteen passengers, freight and mail, the Graf Zeppelin left Pernambuco today on its return trip to Friedrichshafen. A large crowd cheered the great ship as it gracefully turned northward for another Atlantic crossing.

The Graf made its second crossing to Brazil in a little more than seventy hours, but Dr. Eckener expected that it would take longer to return because of adverse winds. His route back was to be the same as that followed to Pernambuco, leading over Fernando Noronha, the Canary Islands and the west coast of Africa back to Europe.

YOUTHFUL ACTOR PAID $1,300 A WEEK

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 4.—Guardianship proceedings instituted by Mabel Leonard Cooper today had revealed that Jackie Cooper, 8, juvenile film star, makes $1,300 a week under a contract that will pay him $4,000 a week in its third year.

Mrs. Cooper in her petition for guardianship papers for her son asked authority from the court to spend $1,600 a month for the support of the boy star.

COUNSEL CALLED IN POWERS DEFENSE IS MENACED BY CROWD

ered that O'Hara's return to Chicago meant that he would not want to be associated in the defense.

O'Hara, in commenting upon the demonstration to International News Service, today denied that anybody had sent him to Clarksburg and termed the action of the crowd "absurd and ridiculous."

"Regardless of the guilt or innocence of this particular prisoner it behooves a good American citizen to keep an open mind just as if he were a juror, until he learns all the facts," said O'Hara.

"I do not think the best citizens of Clarksburg & West Virginia sanction this outburst. But if they do, then it is high time, in the interests of American justice, to give this defendant, no matter how heinous his alleged crime, a trial in another state."

Chief Defense Counsel Law today strongly indicated his intention of attacking the legality of the confession signed by Powers in which he attested to the strangling to death of Mrs. Dorothy Lemke of Worcester and Northboro, Mass., Mrs. Asa Elcher, of Park Ridge, Ill., and her three children.

Meanwhile, police settled down to quietly building the chain of evidence against "slaughter-house Harry."

City Detective Southern awaited word from Washington on his request to investigate the reported army record of Powers, alias Cornelius Pierson, alias Joe Gildaw, alias Bjorgo. His picture and fingerprints have already been forwarded to the federal authorities.

City Detective Southern received a letter from Chief of Detectives James E. McCarty, of Detroit, showing that Cornelius Pierson had joined the American Friendship Society with headquarters in that city on Jan. 12, 1931, and had received 300 names of women with whom to correspond. In July, the mail-order murderer apparently had all he could do to keep up his Romeo correspondence because he requested the society submit no more names.

BUTTON, BUTTON ALL OVER FROCKS-TO BE USED SAYS FASHION

By ALICE LANGLEIER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Sept. 4.—Button, button, who's got the button? All French dressmakers have 'em this season and are sewing them all over new frocks and costumes coming out for winter wear.

Worth is buttoning his coats all up the front in very decorative fashion, the buttons themselves forming a large share of the trimming for they are not just the ordinary utility affair. Many of the coats have double-breasted effects which mean a double row of the buttons.

This manner of fastening of course means the end of the wrap-over, hold-with-one-hand, freeze-your-fingers coats, at least for this season, and the triumph of the sensible over the fantastic fashions.

Buttons, too, come on practical one-piece dresses of wool or velvet. Helm puts a double row of them on a plain brown jersey de laine with a yoke.

Sometimes they come in the shoulder line or on the sleeves at the wrist. Alex marks the design with buttons in twos on a tight-fitting one-piece frock worn with a jacket bordered with spotted leopard.

Buttons close tight-fitting afternoon frocks of silk or satin. And evening ones too come in for their buttons, lovely brilliant, rhinestone ones in the back or front of the bodice. Long or short evening coats fasten with buttons as well.

ACCUSED MURDERER PONDERES OVER FATE

with flowers. They seek exceptional results, the first blooms of the season in their community or the finest and largest.

Recent studies by the Bureau of Plant Industry of the effect of the length of day on the blossoming and fruiting of plants point the way for individual experimenting by curious flower growers.

For some plants, a short day is needed to produce flowers and they normally blossom in the fall when the days are short. The experiments indicate that some of the plants which normally blossom in the fall can be made to flower earlier in the summer if they are kept in the dark a sufficient time each day to give the effect of short fall days.

In the experiments a plant given only seven hours of light daily flowered in twenty-one days while the same type of plant required sixty-two days to bloom when exposed to the light all day. In another instance, the corresponding periods were thirty-six and 122 days.

While some types of plant experiments require more than the ordinary grower has in the way of equipment, the reduction of light is a relatively simple method. In some experiments with chrysanthemums solid black cambric cloth was used to shut off the light. The cloth was simply placed over the plants late each afternoon.

This is a method almost any gardener could use.

Some of the common fall flowering plants upon which the reduced light experiment might be tried are asters, chrysanthemums and dahlias.

Chevrolet manufactures trucks of both ½-ton and 1½-ton capacities in three wheelbase lengths. A number of the popular ½-ton models are illustrated at the right.

Investigate these trucks from any angle and you will find them outstanding.

Take the question of first-cost—and you learn that the Chevrolet Six is one of the lowest priced trucks you can buy.

Look into the matter of economy—and you discover that many leading fleet owners report the Chevrolet Six to be more economical to operate than any truck they have ever used, regardless of the number of cylinders.

Investigate stamina, reliability and upkeep cost—and you find that Chevrolet owners frequently report such records as "20,000 miles without opening the engine"—"50,000 miles and still dependable"—"ten months with practically no expense for repairs."

As for speed and power, Chevrolet gives you a six-cylinder 50-horsepower engine—very fast, very flexible, and 25% more powerful than the engine of any other truck in the lowest price field.

And when you consider capacity, you find that Chevrolet's longer wheelbase, long sturdy frame, and 4 long semi-elliptic springs permit the mounting of extra-large bodies. These bodies are Chevrolet-built, stoutly reinforced and exceptionally smart and trim. Moreover, they are available in styles exactly suited to every business need.

Obviously, here is a line of trucks that deserves your attention, whether you plan to buy a fleet or a single unit. Before you buy a truck for any purpose, get all the facts about Chevrolet's complete line of six-cylinder haulage units. Your Chevrolet dealer will supply you with full information.

Country Club Planning Holiday Program

LABOR DAY will be a gala day at the Xenia Country Club and a program replete with interesting events is being planned. Mrs. Katherine Shoup Farrell as general chairman of the holiday's activities is receiving reservations for supper at the club Monday evening until 10 a. m. Saturday.

Various tournaments are being planned for the day. A golf tournament is in charge of S. M. McKay and Miss Betty Kingsbury. Henry C. Flynn will be in charge of a putting tournament while a tennis tournament will be directed by Mrs. P. B. Yockey. A shuffle board tournament will be directed by R. D. Adair and Mrs. George Graham while James D. Adair will be in charge of a croquet tournament.

Considerable interest is being shown in the tournaments and a number of entries have been received in each. Because of the great number of entries in the tennis tournament play started Friday morning in order for it to be completed by the evening of Labor Day.

Supper will be served at 7 o'clock in the same style as on Wednesday evenings. Any of the tournaments not completed by 7 o'clock will be resumed at 8 p. m. as all courts will be amply lighted for playing.

At 9:30 there will be a dance on the out-of-doors pavilion and the

CHILDREN ENJOY PARTY THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Miriam Geyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Geyer, N. Gallows St., was hostess to a group of her friends at a delightful party at her home Thursday afternoon. Twelve girls spent the afternoon playing games and prizes in the contests were won by Marilyn John and Enid Ellis. Later refreshments were served the guests.

Mrs. Clarence Whitmer, Chicago, is spending this week with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Currie, W. Church St.

Mr. Cecil Baxter and son, Dick, Park Drive, were in attendance Friday at the Ohio State Fair, Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carroll and daughter, Margaret, E. Market St., have returned home after a ten day's motor trip to points of interest on Lake Erie.

Mr. Robert Currie, W. Church St., returned home Thursday after spending several days in Cleveland with his brother, Mr. Arthur Currie.

The Misses Paltie and Juanita Rankin, E. Main St., accompanied by friends from Dayton and Columbus, will spend the week end and Labor Day in Cleveland.

Annual reunion of the Thomas family will be held Sunday in Shawnee Park. A basket dinner will be served at noon.

Miss Ruth Ferguson, who is in nurses' training at Columbia Hospital, Wilkingsburg, Pa., is enjoying a three week's vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ferguson, Clifton Pike.

Mrs. Gretchen Baldwin and two children, Cecelia and Bobby, W. Second St., were expected to arrive home Friday evening or Saturday from Roanoke, Va., where they visited friends.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Hopkins, Hyde Park, Cincinnati, spent Thursday here with Dr. and Mrs. John Ayer, W. Second St. Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins were enroute home after a vacation trip to Narragansett Pier, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Wadsworth Clarke and family, N. Galloway St., who have been residing here several months, will go to Hillsboro, O., Sunday where Mr. Clark will be located there with the Clark Bros. Construction Co.

Mr. Edward S. Davidson left for her home in West Palm Beach, Fla., Friday morning after spending three weeks here with relatives.

Mrs. L. A. Parrett, W. Third St., who has been ill at her home several days, is now improved.

JURY WILL DECIDE TRUCK VALUE HERE

A jury will be impaneled in Common Pleas Court to sit in judgment on the weighty question of just how much a truck is worth. Judge R. L. Gowdy has so decreed in ruling on a suit brought by C. E. Bradstreet, retired Xenia grocer, against T. E. Middleton, seeking judgment of $425 on a note.

The note sued upon was given by the defendant in connection with the purchase of a truck and Judge Gowdy decided that at the time the note was executed, Middleton was incompetent, that the plaintiff had no knowledge of the incompetency and that the note should be cancelled as a binding contract.

The court further ruled, however that Middleton should be required to pay a reasonable amount for the truck and the "reasonable value" of the truck will be left for a jury to determine.

Judge Gowdy denied the defendant's application to rescind the obligation entirely and also overruled motions of both the plaintiff and defendant for new trials.

COURT SUSTAINS DEMURRER TO DAMAGE SUIT FILED BY HOTEL

Demurrer to the petition in the $125,000 damage suit brought by The Stephens Hotel System, Inc., Toledo, O., against Edwin S. Kelly, retired Springfield manufacturer and capitalist, of "Whitehall," Yellow Springs, was sustained in an oral decision handed down Thursday by Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy.

The Stephens corporation, former operator of the Arcade Hotel in Springfield, had charged the business of its Springfield hotel with the building for use as a food market in May, 1930.

The petition alleged that the unpleasant odors produced from vegetables, meat, fish and fruit booths proved offensive to hotel guests. Passing upon two causes of action which he declared the petition apparently endeavored to set up, Judge Gowdy held the petition did not state facts sufficient to constitute cause of action.

Ruling on this phase of the matter, Judge Gowdy held that under provision of the lease, so far as the petition discloses, the Stephens System was granted no right to the arcade which was a part of the building, and there was nothing to prevent the owner putting the balance of the building not mentioned in the lease to any legal use that he might see fit.

A market properly conducted, in itself, not a nuisance, the court decided with reference to the allegation that the use of the arcade for a market constituted a nuisance by reason of the unpleasant odors emanating from it. The circumstances of its location

CHARGE CIGARETTE DEALERS IN XENIA SELLING WITHOUT LICENSE

A charge that cigarettes are being sold by dealers without licenses in Xenia, made Friday by cigarette tax inspectors before the state tax commission, could not be verified.

James J. Curlett, county auditor, said all but three of eighty-five retail dealers on his records, had exchanged their old treasurer's licenses for the new auditor's certificates, to conform with the new law. Of these three, two discontinued handling cigarettes and the third has been notified of his failure to comply with the requirement. A letter mailed to this dealer, was returned marked "no party at that address." The auditor admitted there may be dealers in Xenia selling cigarettes without either old or new licenses, but said this is highly unlikely.

Quincy Davis, tax commissioner in charge of enforcement of the cigarette tax act, ordered an immediate investigation. The names of the persons said to be guilty are in the hands of the commission, but they were not disclosed.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Be the same mind one toward another. Mind not high things, but condescend to the men of low estate. Be not wise in your own conceits.—Romans, xii, 16.

DUBIOUS THOUGH LEGAL

Albert B. Plater and his wife, Olga, insist that the "American Friendship Society," which Murderer Harry F. Powers used as a vehicle for getting the names of prospective women victims, is a legitimate enterprise. Officials of the Wayne County prosecutor's office say the Platers operate legally. The Postoffice Department in Washington has not seen fit to deny them the use of the mails in the furtherance of their business.

But it is not to be denied that agencies such as the one run by the Platers attract the unsophisticated and the mentally and emotionally immature as sugar attracts flies, and that they then become fat opportunities for persons who make livings by preying on the innocent and gullible. It is quite impossible to guard against the sort of thing Powers did, if a person of his tendencies and mentality chooses to use one of these matrimonial clearing houses.

Legal or not, enterprises such as the "American Friendship Society" are dubious institutions from the standpoint of general public policy, and the Postoffice Department should at least take another look at the one run by the Platers to see just what it involves before deciding to continue allowing it the privilege of the mails.

THEY MEET AGAIN

Col. Edward V. Rickenbacker, commander of the 94th Pursuit Squadron of the American air forces in the World war, and Maj. Ernst Udet, who took over Baron von Richthofen's flying circus for Germany, met in Cleveland at the National Air Races the other day. As friends they exchanged reminiscences. Maj. Udet told Col. Rickenbacker of the German fliers' surprise to see two Fokker planes in the latter's squadron. Col. Rickenbacker's explanation, so long after the close of the war, should be taken to heart by American proponents of preparedness.

In short, Col. Rickenbacker said that the planes the Americans were obliged to fly were "so rotten" that the aviators made every possible effort to bring German planes down unharmed. As often as they could they made the captured ships part of the American air force.

So we have acknowledgment of the hazards, the unequal odds which faced American birdmen who ventured into the skies against their German rivals. Col. Rickenbacker's statement indicates how far in advance of the United States is Germany in airplane construction; it reveals how this country sent its aviators into battle without the preliminary safeguard of proper equipment. But it also gives some idea of the courage our men took aloft, the ingenuity with which they made the best of a difficult, dangerous situation, and the Yankee shrewdness with which they used Germany's own planes against her.

However, the moral is obvious. The departments of our national defense should see to it that what happened in France in 1917-18 can never happen again.

NEW YORK HAS ONE

England may talk all she likes about her super-salesman, David Windsor, otherwise Edward, Prince of Wales. But New York has a citizen abroad in Europe just now who seems to have the qualifications of the successful commercial traveler, whether he is selling empires or empty wheels. Since this one is an American as well as a Manhattanite, the rest of these United States should be equally interested in James J. Walker's mayoral progress through Germany and down to the French coast.

Ostensibly Mayor Walker went over for a cure. Ere long and surely enough the papers had a picture of him drinking sprudelwasser through a straw. Followed other pictures in which a tall glass of Pilsener figured prominently in the magisterial hand. "Jimmy" went to Vienna and greeted the populace in its native tongue, adding an ingratiating "War es gut?" He has since arrived at Cannes, to be hailed as "the greatest wet in America," and to drink a glass of champagne with the preamble, "If any proof is needed, I'll furnish it forthwith!" Whereupon the French glowed with such bonhomie that after Mayor Walker had placed a wreath on the soldiers' memorial, as he has not neglected to do in other centers, the Mayor of Cannes gave a reception and ball for the citizenry in the Avenue de la Liberté, appropriately enough, the evening of hizzoner's arrival.

Though he boasts no dress uniforms of honorary rank, Mayor Walker, nonetheless, achieves gala sartorial effects which outshine the effulgence of mere gold braid and medals, estimated by the yard or the pound. At Cannes he wore "a close-fitting flannel coat of light bluish gray with white stripes and a pair of turquoise blue flannel trousers, which vied with any color scheme in this vari-colored city. His shirt was dark blue, his cravat light blue, his socks dark blue with a light blue stripe. He wore black and white shoes and a white Panama hat."

The point is that wherever he goes Mayor Walker sheds the light and warmth of genial personality. He evidently understands the soundness of the German maxim, "Mit dem Hut in der Hand, geht man durch das ganze Land." So he drinks, smiles and mingles with the people while his fellow countrymen at home gaze upon his latest pictures with their tongues lolling.

To cinch the claims of America's candidate for the salesmanship trophy, be it recalled that in effect if one knows who writes the songs of a nation, one need not bother about those who make laws. This puts "Jimmy" one up. The Prince of Wales may shoot good golf and fall off a horse. But has he ever written a song?

Why worry about keeping up with the Joneses when the Joneses are probably having all they can do to keep up at all?

If things get bad enough in Great Britain, they may have to re-establish the monarchy there.

MY NEW YORK

BY JAMES ASWELL

VIENNA.—Far inland as Vienna is, it does not lack for beaches. The Danube's swift, dark flood washes through the town and there are many quieter, more leisurely—and much, much bluer—tributaries and outlets nearby.

The accepted ritual here is for the entire family to proceed to the bathing place early in the morning of a holiday and remain there until dusk. I am told—and experience bears it out—that far clearer insight into the Viennese character and habits may be had at the watering places than in the crowded thoroughfares.

Which is a rather dismaying discovery. Perhaps in New York I spend too little time at Coney Island.

"Ganschaufel"—the most easily accessible beach from the center of the city—lies across the Danube on the shore of a narrow tranquil river. In vast locker rooms men and boys are able to don the brief trunks which comprise the single article of apparel necessary.

WOMEN MORE MODEST Although men are allowed to appear thus sensibly in virtual nudity, women bathing suits are, if anything, more modest than those on view in Atlantic City and Newport. There is little actual swimming except among the young folks. A superb orchestra plays Schubert and Strauss, Mozart and Beethoven, with occasional medleys of American jazz.

In an enormous open-air cafe, families and couples sit sipping coffee or beer for hours, listening to the music and sunning themselves. Love-making appears to take the form of violent athletics up and down the beach, or water-battles.

If the sedate Austrian heads of families continue to reveal to each other and their wives what a steady diet of beer and potatoes can do in the way of distorting the human figure, they will begin to reform in the next five years. The result of a swim at Ganschaufel was, for me, an alarmed swearing-off from both articles for at least a month.

HUMAN CURIOSITIES

Europe, as always, is a happy hunting ground for those who devote to curiosities of human personality.

The owner of a Ganschaufel water-slide concession spoke to me in excellent English and revealed that he had lived in America for twenty-five years before the war. There he had been, of all things, a trained nurse!

"The Viennese," he told me mellowly, "will never become Communists because they do not love money enough. Only men who have greed and no talent with which to gratify it embrace such a creed. We in Vienna have the dose, about $300 a week in American money, and all we wish is to live in peace now, with our beaches and our beer."

CONDUCTOR "HARD GUY"

Today I took the second rubbernecking tour I have ever attempted. The way to know a town is to saunter through and absorb it; you cannot get much. It seems to me, out of a furious dash up and down the boulevards while a guide humorlessly hurries names and dates at you in difficult English.

But the conductor of our trip today was quite a character. His physiognomy was so hard that Mr. Scarface, Al Capone, would appear to be a scuff alongside him. He snapped his information out through a megaphone tilted at the far corner of his mouth.

The geological history of New York State can be traced back to the Pre-Cambrian era, the oldest recognizable in the rocks of the earth.

VACATION PROBLEMS

OVERLAPPING INTERESTS MAKE BRITISH POLITICS NEWS IN UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON.—Whether we like it or not, a great deal of English political news is American political news these times, because so many of the respective interests of the two countries overlap.

This will be especially true during the next few weeks, while the ruling group in London wrestles with financial and economic problems which are partly Uncle Sam's also.

Consequently it will be well worth American newspaper readers' while to understand just what is going on across the water. To gain a full comprehension of developments there some little familiarity with England's governmental system is essential. That the average American is acquainted with its details I have my doubts (for it differs from ours rather subtly) and as it happens that I simply had to make a study of it a dozen or 15 years ago, as European correspondent for various publications on this side of the Atlantic, perhaps it will be altogether a waste of time if I give a little outline of it.

Of course everyone knows that parliament corresponds to our congress.

Formerly the house of lords was on a par with our senate and the house of commons with our house of representatives, but in the course of the first decade of the 1900's the lords were shorn of most of their power. They still can veto a bill which the commons have passed, by refusing to pass it likewise; but if the commons pass it again and then pass it a third time, it becomes law, no matter what the lords may say about it.

The king has no voice at all; he does in theory, but it inevitably would cost him his job if he tried to exercise it in actual practice.

Now, let us suppose that the two major parties are the Liberals and Conservatives (which is not the case now, but was when I lived in England), that an election has just been held and that the Liberals have won a parliamentary majority.

ALL of US

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Who's the Scapegoat?

Everybody for Somebody, Sometime

Queer Customs?

By MARSHALL MASLIN

As long as man has lived he has tried by magical means to place his burdens upon the Other Fellow. His burdens of grief, his burdens of sin, or of bad luck, or of disease, or of carelessness—all of his troubles he has endeavored to shift to other shoulders. Sometimes to animals, sometimes to other men.

In Ancient Greece, once a year, a slave was beaten with a holy rod and driven away from the city with the words, "Out with hunger and in with health and wealth." The Athenians maintained at public expense a certain number of degraded or friendless men and women and when public calamity of any kind threatened they sacrificed them as scapegoats, a man for the men, a woman for the women.

And each year in Old Rome, a man clad in skins was beaten with long white rods and driven from the city.

The Israelites had a holy ceremony during which a goat was laden with the sins of the populace and driven forth to die in the desert.

When a savage of the Aleutian Islands sins he gathers weeds in the sunshine, throws them into a fire and loses his guilt as they burn.

In Guinea a negro who is unwell carries a live chicken about his neck to absorb the sickness. In Arabia when a plague rages it—as they did at the last English election which I watched at short range.

It is up to the king to name, as prime minister, the Liberals' recognized leader in parliament.

One may suggest: What would happen if the Liberals' foremost man had chanced to be beaten for election in the district in which he was running for parliamentary membership?

Ah, but members of parliament are not limited to representing districts in which they live. A candidate may run in any district which chooses to nominate him. Each party always sees to it that its key men are assigned to safe districts.

The premier's duties pretty closely parallel our president's.

His first task is to select his cabinet, composed of leading members of his party in parliament. This ministry he calls his "government"—we would term it here his "administration."

Once in office, with his cabinet, he proceeds to the co-ordination of legislation with his administration's policies. He is in a position to accomplish it, because not only is he himself a member of the legislative body (as are all his ministers like-wise) but he is leader of the majority party in it.

Thus everything proceeds satisfactorily possibly for as many as seven years, when parliament automatically ends and there is a fresh election, maybe resulting in another Liberal victory and the old premier's reappointment.

As a matter of fact, however, disagreements are likely to develop, before the seven-year period has expired, between the premier and some of his parliamentary followers, and a day comes when he is unable to muster a majority on one issue or another that he is committed to.

This is the signal for the Liberal "government" to resign—the "fall of a government" of which we occasionally read in the newspapers.

A camel is led through a pestilential quarter and then strangled. If a wild bird flies into a Malay home it is caught and smeared with oil and then released to carry away all ill luck.

In northwestern India a bullock is set free at a funeral to carry away grief and contagion. In France people used to cure themselves of warts by touching a tiny stone to each wart. Then the stones were tied in a leaf and then thrown into a road. Whoever picked up the stones received the warts, too.

Among the Welsh a cure for a cough was to take a hair from the patient's head and place it between slices of buttered bread to give it to a dog. The dog got the cough.

On the island of Ceram, when a village suffers from sickness a boat is made, loaded with rice, tobacco and eggs, and sent forth to sea, carrying the sickness, too. In Thibet, in February, a man who is given the name of King of the Years, wanders about the market place shaking a yak's tail over the people he meets. Thus their bad luck is transferred to him and he is then driven away on a white horse, with a white dog and a white bird, to live as an outcast for a year in the dismal mountains of Chetang.

These customs seem quaint and old-fashioned. How can any man laugh at them until he is certain that he and all other men have outgrown the ancient custom of laying their burdens on other men's shoulders?

but it does not mean a violent revolution.

The Liberal "government" having been overthrown, one of two things follows:

If the transformation of parliamentary sentiment is so complete that the Conservative leader can command a majority, the king appoints him to the premiership and he carries on as long as the majority continues to support him. If the flop is not so unqualified as to amount to an out-and-out reversal (if a considerable group of Liberals simply have become disgruntled with their own leader, without being prepared to join the Conservative leader's forces) nothing remains but to call a general election immediately.

The system works smoothly enough when one party has a clear parliamentary majority.

There is no danger that the king will withhold the premiership from its leader. The throne would not last overnight if he balked. Aside from that, no one but the majority party leader could get any of his policies favorably acted on in the house of commons and his "government" (his cabinet) would collapse at the first vote.

A tri-party situation, such as Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald has operated under for the last two years, is not so easy to deal with.

It was only with the help of the Liberals' 53 votes in the house of commons that the Labor leader, with his 281 followers of his own party, has been able to maintain his majority against the opposition line-up of 263 Conservatives, 11 Independents and two Irish Nationalists.

A coalition naturally is none too dependable. Secession of the Liberals would have wrecked it at a minute. Rather curiously, what finally did wreck it was the secession of much more than half of the Labor members.

This meant the end of MacDonald's Labor leadership, and, as Labor leader, he resigned his premiership.

Normally, this should have brought Stanley Baldwin, the Conservative leader, into office, or else called for an election but momentarily it suited the combined purposes of the Conservatives and Liberals to accept the fallen prime minister as their temporary joint leader, which brought him his reappointment on that basis. It is a majority which cannot last long.

WEATHER FORECASTING

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

At present the U. S. weather bureau, with 200 or more weather stations from coast to coast, and with assistance from weather stations in Canada, cannot forecast the weather in advance with accuracy for more than 24 to 48 hours, and this with advantage of telegraphic weather reports collected daily in Washington, D. C. from each of these stations. Even from each the weather is suddenly after the weather. It is doubtful if long period forecasting for local areas may ever become accurate. But general scientific predictions of wet or dry seasons over long periods begin to show promise. A large amount of data from past records encourage this belief.

There are approximately 30,000,000 fur-bearing animals killed for their skins to supply the demand for furs in the United States.

The number of dogs in the United States approximates 7,000,000.

The sun is approximately 3,000,000 miles nearer the earth on January 1 than on July 1.

Establishments engaged in the manufacture of chewing gum in 1929 reported an output valued at $58,282,582.

Soap, Water Best Antiseptics

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

We hear a great deal about this or that substance killing germs and being used as an antiseptic. So we use tincture of iodine or which hazel or bichloride solutions or carbolic acid and a host of other things.

Yet all the while one of the best antiseptics we have is the easiest and most readily obtainable—soap and water.

Surgeons have said that for a long time. Most of them thought, however, that the action of the soap and water as a germ remover was mechanical. The scrubbing and washing combined with the action of the soap in uniting with the grease and oil so that they could be readily removed was what caused the disappearance of the germs.

Evidence has been brought forward, however, by the works of Walker, that the chemicals of soap itself have the property of killing germs, comparing favorably with many of the chemicals that have been heralded at least in advertisements as crowning achievements of modern chemistry.

All kinds of soaps were tested and found about equally effective. White soap, perfumed toilet soap, laundry soap, cocoanut oil and olive oil soap. Their power was tested against the germ-killing strength of carbolic acid as a standard. They were, of course, not as powerful as that, but considering everything they were marvellously effective.

They kill pus germs, diphtheria, influenza, pneumonia germs, the germs which cause venereal diseases and several others, when they are on the hands, the skin generally, on eating utensils, pots, pans and the like. Just as a plain half per cent soap solution was found by Nichols during the World war to remove influenza bacilli, pneumonia and pus germs from the mess kits.

The elbow grease used in cleaning these utensils is, of course, also a factor in making them germ free after a washing.

When you make an ordinary thick lather in washing your hands you have a soap concentration of 1 to 12. Now soap concentrations of 1 to 80 or even higher are effective in destroying bacteria. So with a good lather you have an extremely good germicide on your hands.

The same thing applies to shaving. The fact that shaving so seldom results in skin infections is due just as much or more to the fact that during the process you have covered your face with a thick germ-destroying paste before you begin, as to the healing lotion you use afterwards.

Warm water increases the germicidal actions of soaps and hot water.

A French surgeon, Renaud, feels so confident in the germicidal power of soaps that he uses the base sodium oleate in the treatment of open wounds.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

Mrs. F. A. J.: "I do not have an appetite and can not eat breakfast or lunch, so I take an egg for each meal in the form of an egg-nog malted milk. Will that do me as much good as eating eggs in solid form?"

Answer: Yes, the malted milk adds the carbohydrate which the egg lacks and makes a well-balanced meal of about 200 calories.

C. W.: "I have spastic constipation. Will you please tell me the kind of diet I should use?"

Answer: The diet is fully described in the pamphlet, "Diets for a Plain Half per cent Soap Solution" was found by Nichols during the World war to remove influenza bacilli, pneumonia and pus germs

Woman Told To Forget Self

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

Paint Heart says that when she was 15 she met a boy who tried for years to win her, but she would pay no attention. She married a boy whom she had known nearly all her life, and she now has five children.

The first young man waited until she had her third child, and then married. Rumors reach her that he is not as happy as he should be, and she knows now she loves him.

Her husband is not true to her, and she has lost faith in him and would have left him before now if it were not for the children.

"Do you think I should have left him" (her husband) she asks.

"I shouldn't have sacrificed my love to marry a child-maniac playmate."

"I am always dreaming of the other one, and always watching crowds for a sight of his dear face. I wonder does he feel the same?"

No, I don't think you should have left your husband if you felt your children needed you to keep the home together. And I don't see what good it would do for you to leave him now. This other man is married now and owes allegiance to his wife, who surely should not suffer because you now think you married the wrong man.

As a matter of fact, are you not dramatizing the episodes in your life in which this young man figured? Are you sure you loved him when you were both young, and "sacrificed your love to marry a childhood sweetheart?" Didn't you, as a matter of fact, prefer the "childhood sweetheart" and only have regretted your marriage because he has turned out to be an unsatisfactory husband?

Whatever the psychological aspects of the case may be, however, the facts of the matter are that he is now the husband of another woman, and you have no right to imagine yourself in love with him. I know it is very hard to be disappointed in a husband and feel unloved and alone, but with five fine children you can at least have some satisfactions and can find life worth living in caring for them and keeping yourself fine and sweet for their sakes. After they are grown, maybe life will blossom anew for you. I hope so.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: Please help me solve this problem. Several nights ago I met a very nice young man in whose company I was the entire evening. When parting I never gave the fact a thought that I should have invited him to my house."

"I would enjoy being in his company again. Please tell me how I might arrange things. The night I met him there was another couple with us. Perhaps you can suggest some means by knowing this fact."

VIVIAN. It was not necessary to invite the young man to your home, Vivian. If he had wished he could have asked you for a date or to allow him to call. However, if you want to see him again, and feel he would appreciate it, you could invite the same couple who were with you that evening to your home and him with them.

JAX: Bless you, dear! I think I would say to this boy that while you like him very much and hope you will always be very good friends, you wish he would not act as he does. You would prefer to be a little more formal. I think it is better to be quite frank in a matter of this kind and with such a good friend, telling him just how you feel about the matter. He should not be hurt or angry.

Care Required In Plastic Surgery

By GLADYS GLAD

Most people have the idea that plastic surgery is strictly an invention of the present age. But people who harbor this notion are several centuries out of the way of being correct. For facial surgery was practiced even as far back as the 15th century. In the middle ages, when dueling was so common, there were a good many nose-broken gentlemen who had themselves patched up by this means. One lad who lost his nose in a duel had a new one made for himself out of a flap taken from his upper arm!

It was mostly nose operations that were required in that age of feuds and duels. And it is nose operations that seem to interest people the most even today. Not operations to restore noses that have been lost, of course. But operations to reshape noses that are unattractively formed.

Plastic surgery has advanced to such an extent in the past number of years that there are very few nasal defects that cannot be remedied. Snub noses, hooked noses, humped noses and bridgeless noses can all be transformed into more pleasing facial appendages through the ministrations of a skilled surgeon.

The operation to transform an extremely snubbed nose into a straight and more classically formed one is considered the easiest of the nose operations by most surgeons. In this

FOUR CLUBS MINGLE IN OPENING ROUND SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Xenia And Jamestown
Diamonds Scenes Of First Tilts

When Kaye Don, driving Miss England II, the most powerful speedboat in the world, comes down to the starting line of the British International Trophy race at Detroit this Saturday, he will have the best chance a foreign contender for the trophy has had for ten years, or since Gar Wood went to England in 1920 and wrested the cup from the country that saw the birth of the great event.

Don's coming to America has been made possible by the generosity and sportsmanship of Lord Wakefield, of Hythe, C. B. E. LL. D., and points west. Lord Wakefield it was who built the Golden Arrow, world record holder for H. O. D. Segrave, when that brilliant young Englishman came to this country in 1929 and drove his land vehicle at the phenomenal speed of 231.36 miles an hour down Daytona's sandy beach.

In 1929 Segrave discussed with Lord Wakefield the possibility of building a boat fast enough to compete successfully with Gar Wood. As a result, Miss England was sponsored by Segrave's benefactor and with its single engine made a record of 92.05 miles an hour.

Convinced that much greater speed was possible, Lord Wakefield built for Segrave the Miss England II, with its two English Rolls-Royce engines of 2,000 horse power each, installed in a speedboat thirty-six feet, six inches long and ten feet six inches beam.

In its trials on Lake Windermere, Segrave drove it unofficially far in excess of 100 miles an hour, and while going at an estimated speed of 119 miles, the boat hit a floating limb and Segrave suffered injuries from which he afterward died.

The boat was raised from 180 feet of water, repaired and given into the hands of Kaye Don, who now holds the world's record of 110.223 miles an hour with it. It is this boat he will pilot in the trophy race at Detroit, and it appears Gar Wood's monopoly on the event may end this year.

Although he had not enrolled himself as a candidate for the post and, until recently, did not know that his name was being considered Coach Walter C. Wilson, Xenia Central High mentor, has at least an even chance, rumor hath it, of being appointed football coach at Whitrow High in Cincinnati this fall.

The vacancy was created by the recent resignation of Nelson Walke, who is said to have quit because of ill health.

"Pinky" has signed to coach Buccanier athletic teams for another year—his fourth—but in all probability would be able to obtain a release from his contract here should the Whitrow appointment be offered him.

It is hardly likely the city school board would stand in Walter's way and seek to hold him to his contract if he has such a fine opportunity to better himself. The Whitrow coaching position would be a real plum. The Tiger football team, while almost unbeatable in greater Cincinnati scholastic grid irons, have not been able to win as consistently outside that city, and "Pinky" would have a golden chance to make a reputation for himself. Whitrow is more like a college than a high school. Its physical equipment, including a handsome football stadium, would make almost any small university or college turn green with envy. The enrollment is larger than many colleges and the possibilities for a coach are unlimited. More power to Walter if he lands the job.

Hardly a month ago we saw Montreal play when it was leading the International League by a margin of several games. The team looked and played like real champions that day. Now a month is a brief space of time, but what a change has taken place. Where do we find the Canadian city club now but in fourth place, a matter of ten full games behind the league-leading Newark entry. How a club can slump to that extent in a thirty-day period is a problem to wrinkle the brow.

Newspapermen covering the recent Grand American trapshooting event at Vandalia had a tournament all their own. Jim Rennie, Columbus, sports writer for the Associated Press, had the high score but Stanford Wiltner, of the Dayton Herald, holds the world's record, breaking 635 targets with one shot. Wiltner missed the target but hit five boxes, loaded with targets, breaking them all. Pooh, pooh!—and a couple of more pooh-poohs. Knowing our own trapshooting ability, we could probably have done that well ourselves, had we been entered, and might have bagged a few bystanders for good measure.

Pearson-Cordell reunion will be held at Shorter Hall, Wilberforce, Labor Day, Monday, September 7. A cordial invitation is extended to friends and relatives to come with well filled baskets. Mrs. Bertha Hull, president; Mrs. Lonia Jones, secretary.

Quartets, No. 1 and No. 2 of the Christian Spiritualist Church of Xenia and Yellow Springs respectively will leave for Indianapolis where they will render a program, Sunday.

BIG GRAPE CROP
GENEVA, O., Sept. 4.—A bumper grape crop is in prospect in this district, according to statements of growers. Grapes are maturing earlier this year than usual, it is said.

With all four eligibility lists received, nothing but lack of cooperation on the part of the weather should interfere with the first round of play Sunday in the first annual elimination series to determine "Who's who" in Greene County semi-pro baseball circles this season.

Diamonds in Xenia and Jamestown will be the scene of all the series combats and the inaugural contests Sunday will provide, or should provide, keen competition.

The Fulton Fords of Osborn mingle with the Xenia Merchants at Washington Park and the Yellow Springs Athletics visit Jamestown to meet the Merchants nine representing that community.

None of the teams defeated in Sunday's games will be eliminated. Clubs retire from the competition, however, upon being beaten twice.

Under the schedule adopted, each club must play every other club at least once, unless twice beaten before a complete round of play. The games or those postponed owing to rain are to be played off on later dates.

This marks the first time, it is probably safe to say, that an elimination tournament has been arranged to decide the county title among independent nines. With all clubs about evenly matched, judging from a comparison of scores of their previous games, the series is bound to be productive of close contests and will doubtless stimulate attendance.

Here are the fourteen-player eligibility lists as submitted by three of the four club managers:

Xenia Merchants—H. Bales, R. Johnson, R. Schlosser, M. Lamb, G. Greer, R. Durnbaugh, J. Clark, J. Ankeney, L. Ruse, H. Pennyweight, J. Jones, Marshall, Coy and G. Anderson.

Jamestown Merchants—Jacobs, Evans, Trout, Tolan, Pickering, Bales, Haughey, Moorman, Tidd, Gallagher, Coe, Bowmaster, Lucas and Dunlap.

Osborn—Fulton Fords—Gross, Glosser, Groth, Carr, Lewis, Noll, Sipe, M. Wantz, Hampton, Fisher, Ebert, Baker, Marshall and Barringer.

Yellow Springs Athletics—O. Day, E. Brewer, H. Hughes, T. Hammer, L. Brewer, H. Coffman, H. Curry, L. Confer, C. Broderick, A. Ingledue, D. Reynolds, F. Stewart, F. Cain and F. Bales.

N. Y. STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The stock market was under the influence of the usual pre-holiday dullness in the forepart of today's session.

A few of the ranking stock leaders came in for heavy selling pressure, notably American Telephone which dipped 3/4 points to 165 1/2 and U. S. Steel which sold off to a record bear market low at 52 1/2, but as a rule the bears were unable to accomplish much in the rank and file of stocks.

TENNIS PLAYERS IN CLUB TOURNAMENT

Thirteen young men and an even dozen young women are enrolled in a singles tennis tournament at the Xenia Country Club, which began Friday morning and will continue through next Monday.

Play in the first round of the feminine division of the tourney was inaugurated Friday morning, when Miss Kathryn Hibbert won from Miss Anita Cherry in a three-set duel by scores of 6-4, 2-6 and 6-3. Two other first round matches, one in each division, were on the program Friday.

The remainder of the opening round matches will be run off Saturday, the quarter-finals decided Sunday with the semi-finals and finals carded for Labor Day. The tournament is restricted to club members.

ALL-STARS COLLAPSE IN LATE INNINGS TO LOSE SERIES OPENER

For the first six innings it looked a lot like the All-Stars intended to walk off with the belated opener of the three-game series with Krippendorf Thursday night at Cox Field.

Russ Kimber, accorded fine fielding support featured by two snappy double plays, had blanked the defending American League champs with three hits, and the All-Stars had meanwhile accumulated four runs.

Came the seventh round and what should Krippendorf do but stage a revolution that put its oppressors completely to rout. Seven hits rattled off the Krippendorf bats and before the uprising was quelled, six runs were in. The shoe makers killed another run in the eighth to make the final score 7 to 4.

All that Krippendorf has to do now is beat the All-Stars again Friday night and the play-off series will be over. In the event of a triumph for the All-Stars, a third game will be in order next Monday night.

Marvin Putnam, All-Star shortstop belted three hits, one a double while Gultice and Snell each hit

WINDFIELD FAWCETT DIES; WAS JEWELRY STORE OWNER HERE

Windfield Scott Fawcett, 84, former Xenia jeweler, died at his home, 228 N. Galloway St., Friday morning at 7:15 o'clock. He had been in a uremic coma since Monday afternoon.

Mr. Fawcett was born on a farm four miles from St. Clairsville, O. He came from a long line of Quaker ancestors and had always held to that faith. He learned his trade as a watch maker and engraver in the Dillon Jewelry Co., Wheeling, W. Va., and moved to Xenia from St. Clairsville in 1879 when he bought a jewelry store from a Mr. Lucas located at Main and Detroit Sts., in the old Allen Bldg. He continued in the jewelry business there twenty-one years when he entered the wholesale jewelry company of Linder and Co. He was a member and salesman for this firm until his retirement eight years ago.

Mr. Fawcett was the oldest member of Xenia Lodge, No. 49, F. and A. M. having belonged to the Masonic order fifty-four years. His marriage to Miss Annie C. Nelswanger took place in St. Clairsville, O., July 3, 1877 and she preceded him in death July 28, 1930. Two children, Dr. Karl S. Fawcett, Cincinnati and Miss Edith Fawcett, at home and one brother, Charles Fawcett, Niles, O., survive. Private funeral services will be held at the home Monday, the time to be decided upon later and burial will be made in Woodland Cemetery. Friends may call at the home after 3 p. m. Sunday. The family requests that flowers be omitted.

LEGION AUXILIARY OFFICIAL

MRS. PILLSBURY

Mrs. George N. Pillsbury, Treble, who was recently named Ohio state chaplain of the American Legion Auxiliary, will officiate at all religious ceremonies in connection with the state convention of the auxiliary in Toledo in 1932 and will also take part in four district conferences during the coming year. Mrs. Pillsbury has been active in the work of the auxiliary of Joseph P. Foody Post, American Legion, here and has held several offices in the organization.

ULCER DISCUSSED

"Treatment of Peptic Ulcer" was the subject of an interesting talk given by Dr. Kenneth Schloss, Osborn, before members of the Greene County Medical Society in their room in the basement of the Court House Thursday morning. Following the meeting several of the physicians enjoyed luncheon at the Coll-Inn, N. Detroit St.

Scores Golf Ace

Miss Alice McGraw of Shelby, O., above, took a healthy swing on the 175-yard, No. 5 hole, of the Shelby Country club course, watched with amazement as the pellet streaked over the fairway, struck a bunker, bounded high in the air and dropped like a bullet into cup. It was a hole-in-one.

RADIO TO GUIDE UTAH AS "ROBOT" BATTLESHIP

One of the earliest American ships of the dreadnought or all big-gun type, the Utah, above, is to be fitted for remote radio control for use in testing the navy's latest developments in gunfire, bombs and fire control. The ship's speed and course will be controlled by radio, and provision also is made to throw out a smoke screen by radio. Controlling ships will direct at will.

APPOINTS BAILIFF

Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy announced Thursday the appointment of Harry Swigart, Treble, World War veteran, as bailiff of Common Pleas Court effective as of September 1. He succeeds Jacob Stewart, Beaver Creek Twp., who had served as court bailiff since the spring of 1921, but for some time past has not been in good health.

DR. YODER BECOMES CANDIDATE; SEEKS SCHOOL BOARD POST

Dr. J. A. Yoder, Xenia osteopath, filed his nominating petition for one of three vacancies to occur on the city board of education Thursday.

The only other candidates who have filed, are Louis F. Clark and C. A. Bone, two of three members whose terms expire.

Harvey E. Fulkerson, completing an appointive term on the Xenia Twp. school board, has filed a petition seeking his first elective term. Graham Bryson is also seeking re-election as a Xenia Twp. trustee.

With the time for filing petitions expiring at 6:30 p. m. Friday, the election board continued to be swamped with declarations of candidacy Thursday. They were received so fast there was hardly time enough to record them properly at once.

A complete slate of candidates for various Fairfield village offices was submitted, the blanket petition including these candidates: Charles W. Pfister for mayor, Marion Fredericks for clerk, Roy Bassett for treasurer, S. H. Pierce, John C. Newcomb, G. F. Stephens, William H. Parsons, Erwin Boker and Harry J. Wilson for members of council, C. F. Snediker, S. H. Pierce and Charles Gano for board of public affairs.

Other petitions filed included: Adam J. Gerlaugh for Osborn council; S. O. Miller and J. H. White for Sugarcreek Twp. school board; F. A. Charles and C. E. Miller for Jefferson Twp. school board; Delmer C. Harner and L. H. Hartley for Bath Twp. school board; Crawford R. Coy for Beaver Creek Twp. constable; Ben Belden for Beaver Creek Twp. school board; F. E. Harper for Cedarville village marshal; E. T. Ballard for Silver Creek Twp. school board; W. J. Frame for Ross Twp. school board.

Clarence Storck for Bath Twp. trustee; Thomas Kepler for Silver Creek Twp. constable; Raymond Fletcher for Ross Twp. constable; Harry N. Heitner and William E. Sheely for Ross Twp. trustee; Ora Leming and E. A. Story for Jefferson Twp. constable; John H. Chitty, C. C. Kelso and Otto Tobin for Jefferson Twp. trustee; F. A. Charles for Jefferson Twp. clerk; Charles Mason for Caesarcreek Twp. trustee; W. S. Weimer for Silver Creek Twp. clerk; C. F. Greer for Beaver Creek Twp. trustee; C. S. Merrick for Beaver Creek Twp. clerk; Fred Spahr for Sugarcreek Twp. clerk.

C. P. YOWLER WILL HEAD BROTHERHOOD

C. P. Yowler was elected president of the First Lutheran Brotherhood at a joint meeting with the Dorcas Class of the Lutheran Sunday School at the home of Mrs. Minnie L. Davis, Wednesday night. Others officers elected were: John E. Kohl, vice-president and H. K. Snyder, secretary-treasurer.

Definite objectives adopted by the organization were: To increase attendance of men at church services; to secure the return of lapsed members; to win outside men, and to give boys an interesting program in religious services and social functions of the church.

Regular business meetings will be held the first Wednesday of every month at the home of the hostess entertaining the Dorcas Class. A social hour will follow the business meetings. The new president appointed a program committee which has planned a six month's schedule composed of W. F. Maxwell, H. M. Fudge, and C. F. Mellage.

The next meeting will be at the home of H. M. Fudge, 239 N. Gallopway St., October 7, at 7:30 p. m. The Luther League meeting on October 25 will be conducted by the Brotherhood.

PRIEST EXPLORES ALASKAN PEAKS

Alaskan volcanoes have yielded many of their secrets to Father Bernard R. Hubbard and his party, who have just completed an examination of the cones. ## THESE WOMEN NOT FOOLING

Roll Up Sleeves And Work As Tempting Odors Rise From Court House Basement

U-M-M, but it smelled good in the basement of the Court House Thursday afternoon! And it's a safe bet that mouths of many persons who happened to be in that vicinity watered if they smelled the delicious odors arising from that place. For the "Save the Surplus" project had started in full swing and already five members of the American Legion Auxiliary were busy in the kitchens in the basement canning fruits to be distributed to needy next winter.

Peach butter and grape jelly were on the program for Thursday afternoon and at 4 p. m. six glasses of the jelly had been made and two bushels of peaches had been transformed into delicious butter. Three of the women were peeling the fruit while two others were cooking it. The two bushels of peaches had been donated by J. W. Jobe, Sugarcreek Twp., the auxiliary furnished the sugar and the cans and glass jars had been donated by the Famous Cheap Store.

This was only the beginning though and during the remainder of this week and all of next week the workers will be busily engaged as more donations come in. The women are planning to work during the day next week and the night shift will be made up of Legionnaires. This is when it will be really interesting to visit the kitchen and see how many of the ex-service men remember their K. P. duties.

No doubt there will be many a person made happy this winter too when some of that good peach butter that was in the making Thursday afternoon is spread thickly on a slice of bread.

ICE CREAM RACKETEERS CLEVELAND, Sept. 3—Spreading terror among the boy peddlers of ice cream, three youths were arrested here recently after they were accused of attempting to "muscle in" on the ice cream trade, robbing their victims as they threatened them to stay on certain streets.

TELLING the WORLD'S NEWS with PICTURES

Safe From Destroying Hands of Man

The bears of Jasper National Park, Canada's largest game sanctuary, seem quite willing to accept food from the hands of humans, knowing their safety is not imperiled. When this picture was taken at the Jasper Park Lodge, Mary Lou Siegel, daughter of Roy Siegel, of St. Louis, Mo., was interested in the way her governess was feeding the great big bear. But Pat Blum, son of Alexander Blum, of New York, was more intrigued by the birdie in the camera.

New Ocean Greyhound Launched

The new super cabin-liner "Champlain" is shown being launched under the flag of the French Line at Saint Nazaire, France, amidst great celebration participated in by notables from Paris and thousands of other cheering people. The new ocean greyhound, majestic as it slides into its element, will be ready to enter the New York-Havre run early next Spring. It is forecast.

Girl Lured Kidnaped Broker

Telling a colorful story of having been lured to gang imprisonment for two weeks by a vivacious brunette Charles M. Rosenthal, wealthy 23-year-old New York broker, was returned to his home after his mother, according to reports, paid $50,000 ransom. Above Rosenthal is shown on the steps of his home. Inset shows how he appeared, his cheeks hidden by a scraggly beard, an hour after his release by his kidnapers.

New Governor

A forty-year-old lawyer-farmer will become Governor of Mississippi in the person of Martin (Mike) Connor (above) who defeated Hugh L. White, millionaire lumberman in the Democratic primary. The Democratic nomination is virtually the same as election as the Republicans do not seriously contest office in Mississippi.

Enemy Aircraft—Beware!

Here's the very latest device designed to protect these United States against hostile aircraft. It is the "comparator" and its function is to synchronize the artillery sound detectors with the newly developed searchlights. Above, Lieut. J. L. Goff, of the Coast Artillery Corps, at Fort Humphreys, Va., shows how it works. At the slightest buzzing from the sky, the detectors pick up and amplify the sound and the "comparator" gets busy and swings the searchlights unerringly into position, outlining the enemy planes and making them a perfect target for the anti-aircraft guns.

Star Gazing

Manya Roberti

Claimed by the films, plays her first role with Edmund Lowe in "The Spider."

TRUTH SERUM FREES PRISON LIFER

"Truth serum" is partially responsible for the release of Claud Newton, from the Oklahoma state penitentiary, at McAlester, after serving only four years of his life term. Newton, claiming he was innocent of the killing of a policeman, in Oklahoma City, and insisting he was the victim of mistaken identity, volunteered to take the serum at a peace officers convention. While under the influence of the drug he maintained his innocence and did likewise on another occasion. Photo shows Newton as he walked from the gates of the prison, to meet his mother, who was waiting for him.

Girl Caddy for "Bach" Prince

While the Prince of Wales is probably the most famous bachelor in the world, he evidently doesn't object to having girls follow him about—on the golf links. This picture, one of the most informal snaps ever made of the heir to the British throne, shows him enjoying a round of golf on the course at Chilterna, near Biarritz, France. The young girl totting the royal clubs is Mlle. Yvonne Robie.

On Trial for Train Holdup

Fashionably dressed and heavily guarded to prevent a possible break to freedom with the aid of gangland friends, Mrs. Ellen Ellis ("Poker Face") Smith, is shown going to Federal Court in San Francisco for trial on charges of driving the get-away car in the Nobel train robbery, near Berkeley, Calif. Mrs. Smith is on trial with two alleged accomplices. She is shown under guard of Inspector James Mitchell.

When Thousands Rallied Against Crime

New York citizens, smarting under the wanton killing of two babes by gangland gunplay within a month of each other, joined in a huge rally, 20,000 strong, at Madison Square Garden, against the underworld, which has taken such a toll in human lives, and resolved to smash its menace. Among the speakers who exhorted the throngs to drive gangs from their stronghold were Gen. Smedley Butler, of the Marine Corps (left); Bainbridge Colby, former Secretary of State (center inset); and Edward Mulrooney, Police Commissioner of New York.

American Mermaid Wins Great Swim

Collapsible Ship for Low Bridge

The new turbine-driven freight barge, "Edgewater," recently completed for the Ford Motor Company, is shown as it passed down the Hudson River at New York with the new Washington Memorial Bridge in the foreground. Note that one mast already has disappeared and the smokestack is on its way down. This is one of the two new barges built especially for service between the Ford plants at Dearborn, Mich., and Edgewater, N. J. The disappearing super-structure, which can be lowered or raised as occasion demands, makes it possible for the ship to pass under stationary bridges over any bodies of water. Inset depicts the smokestack collapsing.

Main and Monroe Sts.
E. A. Rager, Pastor

Do you have a "some day" in your vocabulary? "Some day" I am going to do this fine thing. "Some day" I am going to accomplish this wonderful reform of myself. Where is that "some day"? It is always in the future or are you just expecting a miracle to happen for you and your "Some Day" be forced upon you? "Some day" will never come unless you start today to accomplish your good. That "Some day" is "Today." How about church, Sunday?

9:15 a. m. Sunday School. A church school of the Bible.

10:30 a. m. Morning worship. A helpful service. The following organ numbers will be played Sunday morning, "Largo" from "Xerxes" by Handel; "Reverie" by E. Macdowell; "Pavane" by Eustasio Rosales. Mrs. James Wilson III will sing a solo "Spirit of God" by Neidlinger. Sermon topic, "Putting Off the Day". Children's Objective sermon. Everybody invited.

7:30 p. m. Union services Trinity M. E. Rev. R. Burkett, preacher.

9:15 a. m.—Bible School. Come join our Bible School. The discussions are most interesting and each class has its own discussion group. Good orchestra music.

10:30 a. m. Morning worship. Pastor's sermon theme, "A Day's Work and a Day's Wages." Labor Sunday Message, Special music by the choir. Good congregational singing. Come enjoy this hour of worship with us.

7:30 p. m. Union Church service at this church with Rev. Burkett of the Friends Church bringing the message.

Johnson once said: "It is worth a thousand pounds a year to have the habit of looking on the bright side of things." This is just what the religion of Jesus Christ enables you to do. Instead of being gloomy all the time why not give God part of your time at least an hour or so on the Lord's day and find the riches of God in Christ Jesus? Come to church and let us help you to find the bright side.

"I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly."—Jesus

September calls to renewed activity. Do not overlook that most important interest—namely—the instruction of the mind, heart and soul. Bring your family to the Bible School this Sabbath. The hour is 9:45 a. m.

Labor Day will be more than a mere holiday this year. It will call for great searching of heart. And may not the Master Workman have a message for the day and its difficulties. Surely the Christian Churches should be crowded this Sabbath by "seekers after truth." The doors of this church swing open to all who would worship with us at 10:45 a. m.

Thirteen hundred registered for the National Young People's Convention at Lake Geneva, Wis., last month. There were five from our society and a total of more than sixty from Xenia Presbytery. Interesting reports of the great gathering will be given by our delegates at a meeting open to every one at 6:30 p. m.

Rev. Russell Burkett, pastor of the Friend's Church will bring the message at the Union Evening Service, Trinity M. E. Church, 7:30 p. m.

Wednesday 7:30 p. m. mid-week meeting for prayer and Bible study.

Exalting Toil

For we are labourers together with God.
—1 Corinthians 3:9.

LABOR Day is dedicated to the blessedness of work, in which we eat our bread, as ordained of old—work, filling days with the satisfaction of accomplishment, nights with earned repose, years with material rewards; work, through which has been upreared the marvelous, mighty fabric of modern civilization.

To do our appointed task faithfully and well, not shirking, or skimping, or muddling through just to "get by" for the moment; not as pleasing men, but God—this is to live a rich, full life. What dignity and blessing in our daily toil to know that we are working in unison with the Creator of all things!

To Business Men

Talking business, making sales, watching the market? Yes, for six days out of every seven. Forgetting business and sales and the market for just one day out of the seven, come to Church and air the upper rooms of your soul—those rooms whose windows look toward Heaven.

To Parents

Are the children old enough to attend the evening service? Then don't you feel that this act of worship, with the family all together, crowns the day with a special benediction?

BOOKS FROM SIAM KING

SAN FRANCISCO.—Several valuable books have been added to the library at the University of California as the result of the visit to United States by King Pradjamahok of Siam. These books were translations of Commentaries on the Vishuddhi Magga and of Phra Triptaka. They were sent to the University through the Siamese legation at Washington.

CHURCH FILLING STATION

MATERNAL POLICE DOG

ST. LOUIS—Coral von Fracas, a thoroughbred police dog, with a highly developed maternal instinct, has no regard for breed. The dog, who has been caring for three rabbits, has taken the responsibility of raising five puppies, while their mother is afflicted with a serious illness. Three other puppies of the ill dog are being looked after by a fox terrier.

LONGEVITY RECORD

ALTOONA, Pa.—In the family of George Curtis, who recently celebrated his 102nd birthday, there were two others who attained ages past 90. A brother lived to be 93 while a sister reached the age of 97. Curtis smokes three pipefuls of tobacco a day.

The Theater

An epidemic of cast juggling has struck Hollywood. Now it is Leo Carrillo who will play "the best dam caballero in all Mexico."

Until a few days ago, Warner Baxter was slated to play this swagging heavy in Radio Pictures' talkie version of "The Dove." Then along came Fox and decided Warner must stay on the home lot.

Fortunately for Radio, Leo Carrillo was available to take the role. He was suggested in the first place but at that time was tied up on another engagement.

"The Dove" will be Dolores Del Rio's first picture since she made a super being, but by mistake gets hold of the brain of a criminal. When electrolysis gives the creature life, it turns out to be a monster with the strength of ten men. Playing the monster will be Boris Karloff. If you saw "The Criminal Code" you will recall him as the convict who shaved Walter Huston. Huston asked him: "What are you in for?" and he replied, chillingly, "For cutting a man's throat."

Mae Clark plays the girl in "Frankenstein" and several of the "Dracula" cast will be seen.

Billie Dove undergoes a real awakening in her new picture, "The Age for Love." Somewhere, since she made her last pictures, she's found the key to her emotions. It's a great improvement over the coolly beautiful Billy Dove of yore. . . . Roscoe Ates' first connection with pictures was as ticket-taker in a nickelodeon in Hattiesburg, Miss.

Mr. and Mrs. David Cherry of Chicago, arrived in Xenia for a visit.

Monday was Home-Coming day at Bellbrook and several hundred former residents of the pretty little village attended the celebration. The old-fashioned fair was duplicated and families held reunions.

Xenia's Postal Savings Bank opened Tuesday and already a number of deposits have been made, the first depositor being on hand when the bank window opened at 8 a. m.

County Recorder B. F. Thomas entered upon his second term.

DOLORES DEL RIO

"The Bad One" for United Artists. Herbert Brenon will direct and production will start September 20. Holbrook Blinn created the role Carrillo will play in the film.

The latest choice for Buster Keaton's next comedy is a play, "If I Were You", written by P. G. Wodehouse and Guy Bolton. The story is that of an American barber who learns, to his amazement, that a nurse switched babies in a cradle and that he is the rightful heir to an English Earldom. The job of adapting the play for the screen falls to Al Boasberg and Edgar Allan Woolf.

The screen is recognizing the appeal of the Macabre. At Paramount Irving Pichel is scheduled to play Hugh Walpole's sadistic hero of "The Man With Red Hair" and Frederic March will re-create the horrible transformation of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

At Universal James Whale, one of the more distinguished directors, is about to start "Frankenstein", the story of a young scientist who robs graves and patches up the body of a man, intended to create

Shooting of Senator Roy T. Yates of New Jersey in New York Love-Nest Causes Political Rumpus on Eve of Gubernatorial Election

Investigation into the mysterious shooting of State Senator Roy T. Yates, of New Jersey, in the New York apartment of Ruth Jayne Cranmer, has resulted in disclosures that may have an important bearing on the coming gubernatorial election. A search into the affairs of Miss Cranmer, who is held in connection with the shooting, revealed that she was on the State payroll, the nature of her labor stated as being with the New Jersey Pension Survey Commission, of which Senator Yates is chairman. It also came to light that Miss Cranmer was in possession of railroad passes of the type usually issued to State employees. Governor Morgan F. Larson has ordered an inquiry, but it is felt that at this time, when New Jersey is on the eve of electing a new Governor, such an inquiry will only cause embarrassment to the Republican Party, of which Governor Larson and Yates are members. The candidates for gubernatorial honors are David Baird, Jr., Republican, and A. Harry Moore, Democrat and former Governor.

TRENTON, N. J. Sept. 4.—That rocked the State of New Jersey to the bitter which felicitous State Senator Roy T. Yates, of New Jersey in the New York apartment of Ruth Jayne Cranmer had more far-reaching results than the grievous wounding of a rising young politician is evidenced by the furor of political bickering that has followed in its wake. The sensational disclosures revealed by the investigation into the cause of the gunplay has

Jersey Pension Survey Commission, of which Senator Yates is chairman. It also came to light that Miss Cranmer is in possession of a railroad pass, good on any road throughout the State, of the type usually issued to certain classes of state employees. These two discoveries were regarded as manna from Heaven by the embattled Democrats of New Jersey. Immediately the demand arose for probes, quizzes and commissions of inquiry and the fact was born on observers that the work when it laid the senator groaning on the floor of Miss Cranmer's apartment. Of course, Gov. Morgan F. Larson, Republican Chief Executive of the state, at once ordered an inquiry into the working of the Pension Survey Commission, for which Miss Cranmer claims to have labored. But the Democrats have something to say about a Republican investigating a Republican and the war is on. Coming at this time, when New Jersey will soon be called upon to decide between David Baird, Jr., a Republican candidate and ex-Gov. A. Harry Moore, of the Democratic party, for gubernatorial honors, the Yates cataclysm may prove another instance of the course of history being altered by the peccadillo of a single man. Despite all that has been written and shouted from rostrums that a man's private life is his own affair, the majority of voters demand that the men who make the laws by which they (the voters) must live must, like Caesar's wife, be above suspicion, more especially if any word or act of the man they elect may prove detrimental to the pocketbook of the taxpayer. Thus it may be that the indiscretion of Senator Yates will have more far-reaching results than a mere sojourn in hospital while the bullet hole which started all the trouble heals. Apart from the political aspect of the affair, Yates will have to do some explaining to New York authorities regarding his possession of a gun in the Empire State, contrary to the Sullivan law. Altogether, the little bullet that insinuated itself into the senator's anatomy couldn't have done much more damage, not even if it had been as big as Pike's Peak.

NO AID TO TRANSIENTS

CHICAGO.—The unemployed are advised to "stay at home" by the Salvation Army. "Transients in any part of the United States next winter will receive scant courtesy from relief agencies," said Adjutant Vincent Cunningham. "This condition will be particularly true in the South."

Farm Notes

For several months a committee of livestock men from Montgomery, Miami, Preble, Warren, Clark, Darke, Champaign and Greene Counties has been working toward establishing a producer owned and controlled sales agency on the Dayton market.

You have probably heard of this movement and would like to get more of the facts pertaining to such a market. In order to get the proposition before the producers of livestock in Greene County the following meetings have been scheduled. Plan to attend one of these meetings and get the facts concerning the relation of your own cooperative livestock shipping association in Greene County to a cooperative sales agency on the Dayton market, and just what is necessary to establish a producer agency on that market.

An extensive survey was made by representatives of the Department of Rural Economics of Ohio State University to determine the exact situation. These facts will be discussed at the following meetings: Beavercreek Twp.—Monday evening, September 7 at the High School building at 8 o'clock. Bath Twp.—Tuesday evening, September 8 at the Bellbrook High School building at 8 o'clock. Sugar Creek Twp.—Wednesday evening, September 9—Bellbrook High School Auditorium at 8 o'clock. Miami Twp.—Wednesday evening

have you been all my life?"

When the right one comes along...

You wonder why you
wasted time on the others!

This been-waiting-all-my-life feeling has hit millions of smokers, men and women both... when they broke open their first Chesterfield package and caught its more pleasing aroma... when they lighted their first Chesterfield and knew, that minute, that it was milder—not sharp or biting.

And after a few puffs, they knew that the taste was better. Here were the cigarettes they had always hoped for, and looked for.

Here were the cigarettes that satisfy! Satisfy—that's the word that "fits."

The right tobaccos—the CHESTERFIELD kind of tobaccos, Domestic and Turkish—cured and aged, blended and cross-blended in the right way. Everything that goes into Chesterfield is the best that money can buy and that science knows about. The paper is just right. Everything about them is just right. Notice the difference.

They Satisfy... and—they're milder. Smoke as many as you like!

GOOD... they've got to be good!
